

Arizona's utility provider spending millions to defeat solar power initiative

Arizona Public Service has spent nearly $11 million since last autumn to combat a renewable energy ballot proposal in its state, according to a new report from a liberal ...

Electric companies in Arizona are responding to demand and offering residents and businesses services to install and connect households and offices to small solar plants. Arizona's largest utility announced that by 2030 ...

Arizona Public Service, the monopoly utility with a track record of spending millions to thwart pro-rooftop solar energy policy and candidates in Arizona, is poised to dip back into its coffers to kill a new effort that would ...

PHOENIX -- An Arizona public utility unveiled a new clean-energy initiative Thursday that would allow unused solar energy to be stored, saved for later and accessed ...

Initiative opponents have argued the plant would have to be closed if it passes, because so much solar power would have to be brought on the grid and used during daytimes ...

Pinnacle West Capital Corporation, the parent company of monopoly utility Arizona Public Service, spent over $11 million from August 12 through September 30 to fight Prop 127, ...

APS has courted controversy in recent years by spending millions of dollars on the election of its regulators at the Arizona Corporation Commission, ending a long-standing principle of...

Dive Brief: Arizona Public Service has spent nearly $11 million since last autumn to combat a renewable energy ballot proposal in its state, according to a new report from a liberal ...

Arizona's largest utility secretly gave millions in 2014 to groups that backed the utility's favored candidates in that year's elections for the commission charged ...

What other ballot measures were related to energy policies in 2018? In 2018, voters in Arizona, Nevada, and Washington decided ballot initiatives designed to reduce the use of fossil fuels ...

APS spent $37.9 million to defeat a ballot initiative (Proposition 127) that would have required it to generate 50% of its power from renewable sources by 2030. Voters rejected Proposition...

It openly spent more than $4 million on commission races in 2016 and nearly $40 million to defeat a 2018

Arizona's utility provider spending millions to defeat solar power initiative citizens" initiative that would have required that it get much more of its power from ...

Results are officially certified. Source. Measure design. Proposition 16 would have required a two-thirds supermajority vote of approval from voters in the local government's jurisdiction and ...

Facing what it saw as a threat to its monopoly from a surging rooftop solar industry, Arizona's largest utility secretly funneled millions of dollars to back favored ...

APS's turn into dark-money started with a debate over rooftop solar policies in 2013. That's when a group called TUSK, or Tell Utilities Solar won't be Killed, was launched by public relations ...

The new contributions bring the total that Pinnacle West has contributed to Arizonans for Affordable Electricity, the political action committee (PAC) that the utility created ...

The battle -- which has already cost nearly $54.7 million, or about $11.50 for every eligible voter -- is over solar power. A ballot initiative would amend the Arizona constitution to require ...

PHOENIX -- Facing what it saw as a threat to its monopoly from a surging rooftop solar industry, Arizona's largest utility secretly funneled millions of dollars to b...

It openly spent more than $4 million on commission races in 2016 and nearly $40 million to defeat a 2018 citizens" initiative that would have required that it get much more of its ...

Endorsed by Western Resource Advocates, the Arizona Utility Ratepayer Alliance, the Conservative Alliance for Solar Energy, the Southwest Energy Efficiency Project, Vote ...

Web: <https://bardzyndzalek.olsztyn.pl>

Arizona's utility provider spending millions to defeat solar power initiative

