Not true. Cap rechargers suffer from no stack-nerfs. You can add as many as you can spare slots for. The only situations where a cap battery is better than a cap recharger is for NON-perma-running setups (you just want a bigger reserve), for warping further in a single move (minor usefulness) and last but most important, if a cap battery would get your cap amount ...

Increases capacitor storage. Provides defense against Energy Leech and Energy Neutralizer effects. Double click on above image to view full picture. Requires a medium power slot.

The Thukker tribe is one of the seven original Minmatar tribes. After the Minmatar Rebellion the Thukkers left Minmatar space and took up the nomadic lifestyles of their ancestors, only this time in space. The closest thing they've got to home is the Great Wildlands region, where they are very numerous, but the Thukkers like to be on the move, constantly going from one ...

Thukker Tribe According to what remains of the historical records of the Minmatar, the Thukker tribe have always been a nomadic people, journeying back and forth across Matar in large caravans. The development of the Minmatar Empire appears to have done little to inhibit the wandering of the Thukker, and they evidently played an important role in establishing ...
