

Is Power Pole effective?

Power-Pole is designed to give you the best shot at putting more fish in the boat with the touch of a button. It deploys silently and holds firm. While there may be some deployment issues, other problems are not that serious.

What should you do if the power pole pump keeps pushing down?

If the power pole pump keeps pushing down, turn off the battery switch. After some moments, the pump should stop pushing down. If it continues, it might be due to a wrong press of the buttons at the hydraulic pump. Pressing the program button should make it work properly.

What problems might you face with Power-Pole?

Power-Pole puts the control in the palm of your hand by deploying silently, holding firm, and gives you the best shot at putting more fish in the boat with the touch of a button. You may face some deployment issues. Besides this problem, other problems are not that serious.

What happens if a Power Pole gets washed?

If a Power Pole gets washed when the connection is unplugged, water can get into it. To prevent this issue, you can apply dielectric grease. Tip - Examine the hardware of the product. The lower two pivot bolts on every Power-Pole model should be tightened at least every 100 cycles.

Why aren't my power poles deploying?

Some customers have reported that their power poles are not deploying. This issue can be caused by a faulty board, a discharged remote battery, or damaged bushings. To fix this, you can replace the board or the bushings, or try pressing the manual deploy button on the pump.

Why is my power pole not coming up?

One of the most common problems with power poles is that they may not come up when you try to raise them. This issue might occur even if your boat starts well. The damage of the inline fuse can cause this problem. To fix it, try pulling forward under power and loosening it up, which should make it come up.
