Are solar panels worth it in Maryland?

With solar becoming more commonplace in America, buyers understand that solar panels will help keep energy bills from utility companies to a minimum, which, in turn, means they value solar energy equipment. Maryland also has quite a few solar incentives that make solar panel systems more valuable overall.

Are solar panels free in Maryland?

Some solar panel companies advertise free solar panels in Maryland, but no company will actually provide panels for free. Most of the time, these companies are looking to get you to sign a PPA or solar lease, neither of which is as beneficial to you as a purchased or financed solar system. It's usually best to stay away from these options.
