Does South Carolina have solar power?

Solar power generation in South Carolina has increased by almost 140% since the beginning of 2020, partly due to a growing number of residential solar panel installations. South Carolina also receives lots of sunshine, making it prime solar territory. Powering your home with a solar panel system can help you save on your electric bill.

Where can I buy solar panels in South Carolina?

Solar Energy World was founded in 2009 and operates across 10 states, including South Carolina. This installer offers solar panels from several manufacturers, as well as solar batteries and live system monitoring. With Solar Energy World, you can buy your solar panel system outright or sign a lease or PPA.

Are solar panels worth it in South Carolina?

Solar panels produce a little less energy per year in South Carolina than they do in the southwest United States, but that doesn't mean they're not still worth it. As long as you have a decent-sized roof that faces south, east, or west, you can absolutely make enough electricity from solar panels to meet your annual needs.
